

Birdsview Grange Reorganized After 14 Years Of Dormancy

Birdsview Grange #957 was reorganized on February 10, 2020. The original Birdsview Grange closed in 2006 at which time the Grange Hall reverted back to the Concrete School District. Upon learning the school district planned to dispose of the property, a group of young energetic citizens of the Birdsview community banded together in their efforts to acquire the hall. Working within the confines of Washington state laws, Grange members connected with the local fire district to acquire the hall from the school district and then to restore and operate the hall under a lease agreement with the fire district. The immediate goal is to obtain the hall from the school district. At that point, Grange members desire to coordinate the fund raising efforts needed to restore the hall to usable condition. The hall would be available as a community gathering place and as a location for providing educational programs and activities to the Birdsview community.

Skagit County Pomona Master

Lacey Rude obligated the new members at their second meeting on March 2. Officers have been elected and committees appointed. As a group, Grange members will be attending the next meeting of the Concrete School Board to discuss their plans for the building.

On another note... the Creative Writing Contest is the next item coming up for the Lecturer Department. Information about the contest is in the Program Handbook. One correction for you Lecturers – the entry postmark date is April 15th. The Program Handbook is correct but I neglected to change it on the information in your packet. Sorry.

Also, as you Pomona Lecturers hold your contests please remember to send me your results form as soon as possible. I'm thinking that some of your contests may be postponed due to the Coronavirus pandemic we are in the midst of. Just mail me your results when you have them. Leslie Jo Wells, 18232 201st Ave SE, Monroe, WA 98272 Thanks for all your work!

President's Message

Unprecedented Times For Our Granges

By Tom Gwin State Grange Master/President

2020 is appearing to be a year to remember with numerous changes to our daily lives. Likewise, our Granges are being forced to operate under different rules.

We started 2020 with bang....increased and better attendance representation from our Granges at the Annual Grange Resources Conference Leadership series. We were seeing new members in several Granges who haven't had new members for several quarters. February brought reorganization of Birdsview Grange in Skagit County. Within just a couple days, we had another telephone call of a group wanting to reorganize Orchardvale Grange in Yakima County. The Orchardvale meeting is currently scheduled for April.

March came along and anything that could go wrong has. The Coronavirus pandemic has turned our lives upside down and our Granges are no different. Elsewhere in this issue, you will find a letter from the State Grange on the virus and how it affects our Grange operations. With the recent "Stay Home, Stay Healthy" proclamation by Governor Inslee and the emphasis on social distancing, we are forced to operate our Granges much differently than we are accustomed to.

While face to face Grange meetings were once the norm, we are now resorting to using our Grange Executive Committees and/or holding virtual meetings. Our Granges do have the option of holding electronic/virtual meetings.

The difficulties presented to us are a method of testing our abilities to deal with the difficulties, which will make our leaders and this organization stronger over the long run.

-- Tom Gwin

Copies of the State Grange Electronic Meeting Procedures are available on the State Grange website. While there are restrictions as to what may be discussed and voted up, we also have to understand that we are in unprecedented times and may have to adapt these procedures to work for us in our current situation.

The difficulties presented to us are a method of testing our abilities to deal with the difficulties, which will make our leaders and this organization stronger over the long run. All

Tom Gwin

Granges and Grange leaders are encouraged to meet these challenges head on and to work out a solution that will benefit the organization over the long term.

Rest assured, no Grange in our state is going to be challenged for not holding a regular full-form meeting during this difficult period. In my Masters' Address at last year's State Grange Convention, I encouraged all Granges to think outside of the box and to be creative in solving the problems facing our Granges. The opportunity is now before Take advantage of these opportunities demonstrate how we can build the partnerships and cultivate the connections that will build a stronger Grange in every community across the state!

In the next few weeks, we will be making decisions on the status of our State Grange Convention, our summer camping program, State Grange contests, and many other Grange activities in our state. I assure you that State Grange leadership will keep the health and well-being of our members in mind as we make decisions on these so very important activities. I hope your Pomona and Subordinate Grange leaders will do the same.

Legislative

Legislative Session Wrap-Up 2020

The 2020 legislative session wrapped up March 12,

By Heather Hansen Legislative Lobbyist

just before restrictions due to the corona virus taught us all about social distancing. The last bill that passed was a response to the corona virus. It allocated $200 million from the state's rainy-day fund to respond to virus related issues. As of this writing, there is speculation that legislators will be called back into special session to deal with numerous issues created by the virus. It is unclear if or how they may be able to meet while maintaining social distancing.

Numerous bills were introduced this session that would have been harmful to rural Washington in general and agriculture specifically. In the end, most were significantly amended or did not pass. A short session is supposed to be limited to emergencies and little fixes. That was definitely not the case this year and many large, complex bills were introduced, in many cases without stakeholder participation.

It's no secret that climate change is a priority issue for Governor Inslee and many legislators. Two issues that were pushed hard this year but failed to pass were a low carbon fuel standard and a price on carbon, either as a carbon tax or a cap and trade program.

The budget created a work group on the Growth Management Act (GMA) to be run by the Department of Commerce. The work group is to make recommendations to the 2021 legislature for updating the GMA. This could have ramification for property values and future development in rural areas.

Also in the budget, the Department of Ecology was directed to convene a work group to study the design and use of the state water trust, water banking, and water transfers, and present its findings to the legislature before December 1, 2020. The work group must include: federally recognized Indian tribes; local governments including cities, counties, and special purpose districts; environmental organizations; agriculture; business; and entities involved with the establishment of water banks.

The plastic bag ban, which has been the subject of much wrangling for the past two years passed this year. Grocers insisted on a fee for paper bags, which studies have shown decrease paper bag usage. An agreement was reached, with an 8-cent fee on both paper and reusable plastic bags. Starting in 2026, that will increase to 12-cents for plastic, while paper will stay at 8 cents. This "passthrough charge" is retained by the retailer as profit and sales tax does apply. There is also language in the bill directing the Department of Ecology to expedite permitting for new pulp and paper facilities to increasing the ability to produce bags.

Two new grant programs were created ostensibly to help farmers although neither came from the agriculture industry nor did they receive much support from ag groups. A three-year pilot program was created to reimburse farming operations and timber producers for purchasing compost from facilities with solid waste handling permits. Reimbursement may include transportation, equipment, spreading, and labor costs. The pilot program will run January 1, 2021 through December 31, 2023.

The Conservation Commission was tasked with creating the grant program outlined in SSSB 5947. Grants may be used for carbon storage or reduction; precision agriculture equipment; the purchase of seed, seedlings, spores, animal feed, and amendments that help reduce or store carbon; and services to landowners, such as the development of site specific conservation plans to increase soil organic levels or to increase usage of precision agricultural practices, or design and implementation of best management practices to reduce livestock emissions.

Senate bill 5395 requiring sex health education to be taught in school at all levels passed amid a huge outcry in Olympia. Groups have formed asking the Governor to veto it. As of this writing, he has not acted. The deadline to sign or veto bills is April 1.

A new office of firearm safety and violence prevention was created within the department of commerce for the purpose of coordinating and promoting state and local efforts to reduce firearm violence. The office will be tasked with working with law enforcement agencies, county prosecutors, researchers, and public health agencies to develop and implement evidence-based firearm violence intervention and prevention strategies. And contracting for a statewide helpline, counseling, and referral services for victims, friends, and family members impacted by gun violence.

Looking ahead to the November election

This November, all statewide elected officials will be on the ballot along with all 98 members of the state House and one-half of the state Senate. Since it is a presidential election year voter turnout is expected to be high.

So far, only one sitting statewide elected official has announced retirement, Lieutenant Governor Cyrus Habib. Eleven House members and three Senators have announced that they will not seek reelection. Expect more announcement before filing week in May.

If you have questions about existing state law or policy as you prepare resolutions, please do not hesitate to ask.

Letter To All Granges On The Coronavirus Pandemic

The Coronavirus pandemic continues to create havoc with unprecedented growth throughout our state and nation. As with many other illnesses, many of our Grange members are of the age that may be severely impacted by the potential spread of this respiratory ailment. The State of Washington and the CDC have made strong recommendations regarding the types of activities that need to be curtailed for a short period of time

As news continues to break with more and more Covid-19 cases and a small percentage of those infected having succumbed to the illness, we continue to see the pattern emerge - not unlike that with the flu and other significant respiratory ailments - that older individuals are disproportionately impacted. Some of you have expressed concerns about what to do regarding Grange meetings and events, but until we had a clearer picture of the situation we wanted wait to issue clear guidance without causing undue panic.

While we know the risk from this virus is low, many of our members are or socialize with people in high-risk groups, especially the elderly, at Grange functions and in their daily lives. For this reason, we ask you to be mindful and preventative to help us all contain this novel virus as well as other nasty viruses such as the "typical" flu. The best thing you can do is take all necessary and advised precautions, which in some cases includes selfquarantine.

State Grange Events and Activities

The Washington State Grange will make the following changes in their operation over the next few weeks:

- The Washington State Grange office will closed for the 14 day period, beginning at 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, March 25. Staff members will be working from home, conducting business via email and conference calls. If you need to contact a staff member, it is best to email each member directly or use our office email: grange@wa-grange.org. Email addresses for all state members are listed on the website.
- Quarterly reports and dues payments are still due April 1.
- The Intersessions Committee Meetings were postponed from the original date of March 27. We will be looking at setting up conference calls for each of the committees to review current Grange policy, to identify areas where policy is needed, and to identify priorities for the 2021 legislative session.
- The Deputy, State Officer, and Pomona Master Conference, scheduled for March 27-29, is cancelled
- State Grange Scholarship Applications will have the deadline extended to May 15 to give all students an ample opportunity to obtain transcripts and required recommendations from their school officials.

- Junior Grange Camp Directors Meeting, scheduled for April 7, will be completed via conference all. Prior to the meeting, a packet of information will be sent to each participant. The packet will be reviewed in depth during the conference call. We hope the spread of the virus with be curtailed before the camping program begins in late June
- The State Grange Convention is still scheduled for June 24-27 at the Walla Walla County Fairgrounds. By the first part of May, we will learn if that date will remain intact or if we need to postpone and/or reschedule the convention.
- The deadline for receiving resolutions is normally 30 days prior to the convention. With the cancellation of several Grange meetings through April and possibly into May, the State Grange Executive Committee has extended the deadline to June 10. All resolutions must be in the State Grange Office by 5 p.m. on that date

Subordinate and Pomona Grange Meetings and Activities

Grange meetings and our associated events are public gatherings that encourage friendly interactions. Our events often include potlucks with buffet-style service that may also heighten the opportunity for the virus to pass from one person to another. Remember, symptoms may not appear until 14 days after exposure to the virus, and the virus may survive up to three days on surfaces outside the human body. Therefore, even if no one appears sick at an event, it is possible that illness could still spread.

With this in mind, I strongly recommend all Grange activities to be postponed until at least May. If your Granges insist on meeting, here are some additional tips you may want to consider regarding meeting protocols:

- This is a good time to try out virtual meetings. Freeconferencecall.com is really free and available to join members together by phone for a meeting without leaving your home.
- If you do have an in-person meeting, the requirement of the Assistants to take the word from members present, involving close face to face exposure, should be discouraged and will not be enforced.
- Unnecessary handling of implements, such as staves, flags, Graces' decorations, station covers, rug, implement box and even the Bible, should be discouraged or done in short form and will not be enforced.
- Refreshments, especially those made at home, should be discouraged.
- The Executive Committee has the authority to transact any business of the Grange in an emergency. The committee can meet, in person or by phone, to conduct any business that cannot be delayed, such as paying basic bills. Be sure to record these actions and report them at the next regular meeting so they can be recorded in the minutes.

In the face of such an emerging health crisis, the Bylaw (6.12.1) that requires Subordinate Granges to meet monthly and Pomona Grange to meet once in three months will not be enforced.

Grange Hall Usage and Rentals The State of Washington has restricted all activities where more than 50 people gather. The federal government is recommending no more than ten people at any one time. It may be possible to make modifications to limit exposure of the virus to those in attendance. If you find it necessary to continue renting your hall during this time, please be aware that you will need to sanitize your hall both before and after each usage. Disinfect all surfaces after any gathering and use disinfecting wipes and hand sanitizer frequently. Instructions and recipes for homemade hand sanitizer using aloe vera or glycerin and alcohol are available

Together, we can turn this crisis into an opportunity to build the connections within our Granges and in each community. Let us continue working together to solve this problem as we work to build a brighter future!

Grange Month

Grange Month Display Contest: "CULTIVATING CONNECTIONS"

Granges are encouraged to toot their own horn and the horns of other Granges as we celebrate Grange Month in April. The State Grange Membership Department is having a Grange Month Display Contest to assist in promoting the Grange and portraying the positive influences the Grange has made on our state and nation.

For over 130 years the Washington State Grange has worked to make our state a better place for our citizens. We are active in 226 communities throughout the state, providing a wide range of services and offering multiple activities and programs. A public display on our Grange programs will assist in informing the citizens of our state of our programs and achievements.

Grange Month is celebrated in April. We ask that each Grange create a public display to promote the Grange and to focus on the positive impacts the Grange has made in our state.

General Guidelines:

- Each Grange will arrange for their own display area in a prominent public location in their community. The display area may be a window, table, showcase, or whatever is available for use in your community.
- Each Grange will design a display featuring their projects and activities, with a focus on the positive impacts they have had on the community or state.
- The display should follow the theme "Cultivating Connections".
- A wide variety of Grange programs should be represented (i.e. lecturer programs, community service, youth activities, junior programs, family living, legislative etc.)

- The display must be in place for a minimum of seven days during the month of April.
- Each display must include a Grange logo and contact information for the local Grange.

Contest Information:

- Each Grange is encouraged to take a 3-5 pictures of their display (including one of the complete display).
- Place the pictures in a folder and include a 300-word (maximum) essay describing the display and what you tried to portray.
- Include your Grange name and contact information in the folder.
- Send the folder to the State Grange Office no later than JUNE 1.
- Pictures of the displays will be used for promotion in The Grange News. In addition, pictures will be displayed at the State Grange Convention.

- Judging will be completed by a committee and will be based on: originality, creativity, design, and overall impact.
 - Cash prizes will be awarded to the top five displays: $50, $40, $30, $20, and $10.

All entries should be placed in a folder and sent by JUNE 1 to the Washington State Grange, PO Box 1186, Olympia WA 98507. All entries will be available for pick up at the State Grange Convention.

A Time To Help Our Communities In Need

As we all charter these uncertain times, it is first important to keep each of us safe. While social distancing at this time is the new normal, how can we as Grangers continue to work to help our communities in need? How do we stay connected and help those around us while also practicing social distancing and abiding by the "stay at home" order?

Stay connected - what can we do to stay connected and help those around us while staying safe? Social media is key in times such as this. Utilize your Facebook pages. I see many Facebook pages that are doing just that. This is the perfect way for our Granges to stay connected with our communities. Beehive Grange is sharing positive thoughts, quotes, as well as upcoming events in the summer and fall. Moses Lake Grange is sharing information from local entities and keeping community informed. Skookumchuck Grange is asking for locals to help donate 3% hydrogen peroxide as their local Tenino distillery works to produce FREE hand sanitizer to their

who wanted to help sew masks. They created a drive-thru process for pick-up to keep everyone safe and practice social distancing. Swauk Teanaway Grange is using their hall as a lunch delivery location for their local elementary school. Humtulips Grange revised their food bank pick up this month to make all participants much safer by creating a drive-thru service and fed about 30 additional families in their tiny community. On an exciting note, they received 5 new applications for membership as well. While also practicing social distancing, Goldendale Grange set up an emergency collection of essential items for struggling families in their community who were unable to afford much needed food and supplies, creating a driveup distribution and donation area.

There are so many great things the Granges can do for their communities and I know there is much more that is happening out there! It truly makes you proud to be a Granger! We may be more important than ever before as we look for the new normal. This is a time to slow down and get back to what's most important to us, family, friends and community.

Love in action - Let's look at the global act of solidarity we are witnessing around us and around the world. We are all witnessing something much larger than ourselves, we are witnessing the great love we have for everyone around us, to people we hold dear to us, to our immune-compromised brothers and sisters and to the people we will never meet. As we see the streets, the stadiums, the churches, museums, and theaters closed, we see love in action. What we are witnessing in that negative space is how much we all do care for one another. Take a moment to look at the emptiness and marvel at all the love. God bless and stay safe!

Granges Can Use Crisis As Reason To Embrace Change, Expand Opportunities

By Joe Stefenoni National Grange Membership/ Leadership Development Director

This is certainly not the article I planned to be writing this month. As we all begin to adjust to our (temporary) normal, many of us may be left wondering "what will our Grange do as we're all quarantined?" Although gatherings of multiple people are being discouraged (and banned in some jurisdictions) this does not mean that the Grange's benefit cannot be extended to both the community and our members. Throughout the course of our history, the Grange has been a source of consistency and continuity to thousands of communities in times of crisis.

The theme for Grange Month 2020 is "Cultivating Connections". While many areas may still not be able to host activities as April comes around, we as Granges can still cultivate connections with our members and our communities. This new temporary reality is a perfect opportunity for Granges to give additional responsibilities to some officers as the administrative officers handle the business of the Grange until we are able to convene meetings again. The Graces can be made responsible for contacting Grange members to check-in on their well-being. The Lecturer/Program Director can continue to develop programs that educate and enliven both members and non-members. As movement restrictions are lifted, the Stewards could be responsible for picking-up and delivering items to members who are more susceptible of contracting an infection.

Connections can also be cultivated with members of our communities. As we are quarantined or are sheltered in place, Grange leaders can be keeping abreast of what the community needs and will need. As day-to-day life returns to normal, our Granges can be the at the forefront of the community to ease the transition. Community socials, educational forums and other events that bring the community together will be essential in the upcoming months. Social media and technology-based platforms like your Grange's grange.org website, Facebook, blogs and Zoom are all useful in engaging both Grange members and community members.

Please share with all Granges and members the advisory issues by National Grange

Master/President Betsy Huber regarding the use of digital platforms for conducting Grange business. This can be an opportunity for Community Granges to evaluate their use of technology and find new ways to incorporate tech tools into the regular operations of your Grange.

Finally, this is not the first major national event that has occurred in the Grange's long and illustrious history. Just as our predecessors, it is our responsibility to look to the care and comfort of the Grange as we relieve the distresses of our Sisters and Brothers.

Writing Resolutions

Each and every Grange member can take an active part in policy development by writing resolutions. If members are concerned about an issue or the way the Grange is conducting operations, writing an effective resolution is the first step toward change. Take time to consider issues that will make a difference in members' lives. Think about how realistic results can be achieved. Discuss ideas at Grange meetings, and consider input from all members. Prior to finalizing a resolution, have someone, other than the writer, read it aloud to the group to check for clarity, wording and sentence structure. Please don't use abbreviations.

KNOW YOUR FACTS: Identify the problem. It is essential that the writer has a clear understanding of the subject matter. Before writing a resolution, check current Grange Policy (in the annual Legislative Handbook). It is important to know what the existing policy is in order to know what portion needs to be changed. It is also important to know how the law reads. Resolutions are much more effective when they are clear about what needs to be changed. Resolutions that inadvertently include inaccurate information can damage the credibility of the organization. The Washington State Grange office is available to assist with background research on existing laws and policy.

STATEMENT OF ACTION: The resolution must clearly state the desired action to be taken and who is to act. Consider the goal of the resolution, what are the intended results? What course of action is required for an acceptable solution?

CONTACT PERSON: Each resolution must include the name and daytime telephone number of one or more contact persons who are knowledgeable about the issue. This will assist the legislative department in preparing background information for the convention committee.

FISCAL IMPACT: If the resolution relates to Grange law or Grange activities and would cost money to implement, a fiscal impact statement must be prepared showing the cost of implementation. It is important that such resolutions come in early so the Executive Committee can review the cost estimate prior to convention. This statement of cost may be on a separate sheet of paper from the actual resolution.

SEND TO: Resolutions should be sent prior to deadline to the State Grange headquarters in Olympia.

RECOMMENDED FORMAT

- 1. Title Should clearly reflect the issue.
- 2. Problem statement Clearly state the problem and why it is a problem. This should be stated in two or three short paragraphs. Statements should be concise and factually correct.
 - 3. Action statement - State the action requested.
- 4. If the resolution is to be sent to other Granges, please identify which group all community Granges, all Pomona Granges or both. A fee will be charged for this service.
- 5. Authorization State the name of the Grange and the date the resolution was passed. The resolution must then be signed by the master and secretary and have the Grange seal affixed.

Time To Prepare Your Entries

By Helen Berg Family Living Director

Today I would like to take a moment to help you prepare your entries for contest. I will start with sewing. Remember the golden rule of sewing: Press, Press, Press. When getting a garment ready to enter turn it wrong side out and be sure all seams are pressed open or to one side in the case of serged seams. Then turn back right side out and give it a once over. You will be amazed what a difference this will make. Also be sure all seams are finished with a zigzagged or serged edge.

Needlework is next. Be sure to block your project when using wool. Most acrylic yarns do not recommend blocking. Doilies should be rolled on a tube for transport and for ease of the judges to see the back side of your work. Be sure all loose ends are woven in. If you would like to send a display board for your work, we can mount it after the judging is finished. Remember you can enter knitting, crochet, and tatting.

Food preservation: Be sure you have processing time and method used as well as elevation and full date noted. Lack of this information will most likely lead to disqualification.

Quilts: Again I stress to press, not iron. Watch for twisted seams as they do not lay flat. Judges will be looking to see if your corners lock, colors are compatible, and if your backing is applied on the straight of grain. They also want to feel batting to the edge of your binding and see an even binding around the quilt.

Baking and candy: When picking your 13 pieces look for uniformity in color and size. May be wise to taste before entering. Remember full loaves of bread.

Most of all have fun. I hope these hints will help you have successful entries this year.

With so many events being cancelled I hope you will be able to have your contests. I just ask that you be safe. Send in your reports as soon after your contest so I can start to get info ready for state contest. This is definitely an unusual season.

Now's The Time To Teach At-Home Nutrition

(Courtesy of Family Features)

With a lot of parents facing the challenge of keeping housebound kids happy and healthy, this is the perfect time to teach kids the basics of nutrition and eating right.

Consider these simple suggestions from Melanie Marcus, MA, RD, health and nutrition communications manager for Dole Food Company.

Healthy Snack Time Taste Tests – Sometimes it feels like kids can snack all day long on easy-to-grab crackers, chips or cookies. Next time they reach into the snack pantry, try incorporating a taste test or food critic activity to encourage something different and more nutritious.

Purposeful Playtime – Many households have a play kitchen or some kind of play food. Use this as an opportunity to act out how to create a healthy kitchen with activities like making salad, setting the table, peeling bananas and washing dishes. This can help young children become more independent, learn what to expect and grow into little helpers at family mealtime.

Sensory Activity – One idea that can work for school at home is making a sensory box. Simply place a fruit or two inside a tissue box and have children put their hands inside then try to guess which fruit it is by feeling it.

Recipes for Fun – If you're preparing a meal, it could be a good time to teach children of reading age how to review a recipe. Evaluating ingredients to learn how food transforms from raw to cooked or how a dish is created can help kids learn kitchen skills. For example, try this fun, fruity recipe for Kids with Almond Toast.

Reading Time – From food labels to children's books to cookbooks, there are plenty of reading materials to choose from that reinforce healthy eating habits. Exposing children to fruits and vegetables outside the kitchen is a subtle way to show that nutritious ingredients are part of everyday life.

Explain the Bathroom Routine – Make sure to wash hands and explain that this is a way of washing away germs to stay healthy. Also explain why brushing teeth is important by reminding children that food can get stuck in teeth and cause cavities.

Community Service

Review Your Grange Community Service Goals And Objectives

With the curtailment of Grange meetings and activities from mid-March through the month of April and possibly even further, we should look at the upcoming calendar to review our Grange goals and objectives for the next few months.

Nominations for the Grange Volunteer Recognition Program were originally due on April 15. We are extending this deadline to MAY 15th. Each Grange may nominate a Police Officer, Firefighter, Teacher, Community Volunteer, and Volunteer Group to be recognized by the Washington State Grange. The winning Police Officer, Firefighter, and Teacher then will be forwarded to the National Grange for consideration of national recognition.

Grange Community Service Reports are still due June 1st. Now is a great time to start compiling your list of projects, documenting the impact you have made, and planning for upcoming projects. Granges should still report on the progress of their projects, even if not completed due to the curtailment of Grange activities.

Community Service Report Forms and Volunteer Recognition nomination forms were distributed in the community service packet at the leadership conferences. The forms are also available on the WA State Grange website: www.wagrange.org.

PLEASE NOTE:

Spotlight on Youth & Juniors ■

Youth

Grange Youth Activities Spring Into High Gear

By Jerry Gwin State Youth Director

As we enter the spring solstice, we are slowly creeping upon the first of several deadlines for Grange youth contests. May 15 is the deadline for applications for the Horizon Youth Ambassador Program and Young Patron Program, 4-H/FFA member Award, and Spirit of Youth Award. Contestants in the sign-a-song contest and the prepared speech contest must notify the youth director of their intent to enter prior to the state convention. Nominations for the Youth Service Award, Junior Grange Mentor Award, and Grange Youth Recruiter Award are also due by June 1.

April 15 is the application deadline for the WA State Grange Youth Achievement Award. This is a new program this year and is intended to encourage our Grange youth members to participate in the total Grange program. Application forms are available on the youth department page of the State Grange website: www.wagrange.org

In addition to the contests listed above, Grange youth members are encouraged to participate in the various contests in the Lecturer and Family Living Departments. There are a wide range of contests, from baking and canning to photography and craftwork. With the current situation surrounding COVID-19, many Pomonas will be rescheduling their contests into late May and early June. Please check with your Pomona Grange for the most current information on the contest date.

We are still planning for the annual State Grange Convention in Walla Walla. We anticipate a large youth group to enjoy the variety of planned activities.

The 2020 Western Regional Leaders and Youth Conference will be held August 7-9 in Boise, Idaho. Registration and housing information will be available later this spring.

Juniors

We Take Our Juniors And Children's Safety Seriously

By Heather Ferguson Junior Grange Director

State Convention is going to be here before we know it. The Junior Leadership team is busy making plans so that our Juniors will have a fun and safe convention experience. safety of the children attending convention is our #1 concern and the Junior Department will be implementing and enforcing stricter safety measures than previously seen.

In next month's column, you will find a tentative "Juniors Room Activities Schedule." Morning activities and afternoon activities will be clearly indicated along with drop-off and pick-up times for your Juniors. Those parents or guardians who fail to pick-up their children at the scheduled time will be asked to donate funds to the Junior Program or if the problem persists we may ask your child not to return to our activities for the week. Please remember we are the Junior Program with a schedule of activities for ages 5-14 and not daily child care while at convention.

Children must be accompanied by a guardian during checkin both in the morning and afternoon to attend the Junior program and a guardian must return again to sign them out of our care. As in past years, registration forms will ask who is allowed to pick-up your child. This is a basic rule in schools and children's activities for obvious reasons and will be followed with no exceptions in the Junior Department, even if I know you are grandma or grandpa.

Outside of the "Juniors Room Activities Schedule", children and their meals are the full responsibility of their parent or guardian. Children should not be left at or dropped off at the convention grounds on their own and need to be in an adult's care at all times. Unless previous arrangements have been made, the Junior Leadership team is not responsible for children before, after or during the lunch period of the "Juniors Room Activities Schedule". The Junior Room will be locked and NO children will be allowed in the room outside of scheduled times which includes lunch time. The Junior Department will only provide lunch once during the week and all other times are the responsibility of the parents or guardians.

The safety of our children is a big responsibility that my team is taking seriously. We want our Juniors to have a fun time in an environment that allows for learning, growth and creativity. In order to accomplish this, the Junior Leadership team is eliminating scenarios that could be harmful to our Juniors, the environment we want to create and taking precautions to protect ourselves. We cannot have children unattended in a room by themselves, in a situation one-onone with an adult or older child or with someone not approved by parents or guardians. If you have other safety concerns or questions concerning the safety of our Juniors please contact me, I will be happy to answer any questions.

2020 Junior Grange Camps Offer Opportunities For Kids

A prospective camper who have never attended any of the Junior Grange camps simply has to write a letter of interest in securing the campership and sending it to the Washington State Grange, PO Box 1186, Olympia WA 98507. Grangers are encouraged to volunteer to help with the camps. They are also requested to visit the camps in their area, especially for the designated Visitor's Program. There is a guest charge for dinner, other meals, and overnight stays.

Remember, the child needs no prior Grange affiliation to enjoy the summer camping experience. Spread the word about this Grange camping opportunity!

National Grange News

My Time at the Washington D.C. Legislative Experience

By Emily Cabbage Five Mile Prairie Grange #905 Spokane, WA

In March of 2020 I chose to participate in the National Junior Grange Washington D.C. Legislative Experience. It was inspiring to have the chance to learn about the legislative branch of our Federal government and learn about D.C! While in Washington D.C. we went on a lot of cool tours and experienced many wonderful opportunities, such as:

- Visiting the Smithsonian Museum of American History
- Going on a Moonlight Monument and Memorial Trolley Tour
- Touring the Washington Bureau of Reuters Thomson News
- Touring the U.S. Capitol Building
- Meeting with Washington State Senator Patty Murray (D)
- Meeting and talking with staffers of Senator Maria Cantwell (D) and Congresswoman Suzan DelBene (D)

Meeting with one of our Senators was a memorable moment. When we met with Senator Patty Murray, I was able to ask her a question— "What challenges have you overcome while advocating for your beliefs?" She explained that she was one of the first two women elected to the U.S. Senate. When newly elected she said one of her big challenges was having her opinions and insights be heard. She talked about how it could feel intimidating to speak up when no one else in the room is like you. She said it could be hard to have the courage to speak up and have others hear your voice. This is one of the reasons I enjoy being part of the Grange; speaking up and advocating for important issues with State and Federal government officers. It was great to be able to personally connect with Senator Murray and be able to learn a little more about her.

Meeting with staffers for Senator Maria Cantwell and Congresswoman Suzan DelBene was really interesting. The other constituents and I from our state were able to discuss local issues that were affecting us and our communities—such as overcrowded schooling, rural broadband access, and how COVID-19 (which was then just beginning to emerge as a national problem) might affect us and others in our state and country.

We were able to let our voices be heard too, which felt great.

Touring the U.S. Capitol Building, the Smithsonian Museum of American History, the Washington Bureau of Reuters-Thomson News, and the memorials and monuments were such awesome experiences. We got to see so many cool things such as—Abraham Lincoln's top hat, George Washington's military uniform, Julia Child's kitchen, the Greensboro sit-in counter, and many more original American artifacts. The monuments and memorials were stunningly beautiful and humbling. It was a moving experience to be able to remember great American people and events that changed our country forever.

Thank you to the D.C. Potomac Grange #1 for the Grassroots Advocacy Scholarship which offered financial assistance for this journey. Thanks to the National Grange and National Junior Grange leadership teams for making this opportunity happen. I am so glad I had the chance to go! I would definitely recommend that other Junior Grange members take advantage of the Legislative Experience when it happens again.

FCC Uses Variety Of Approaches To Provide Assistance In Response To COVID-19

Gathered By Burton Eller National Grange Legislative Director

Broadband community steps up

The internet and telephone provider community took actions this week to increase speeds, lift data caps, and offer 60 days or more free service to students and low income households. The response of 24 companies to FCC Chairman Pai's call to pull out all the stops will help Americans stay connected during this pandemic. Pai also urged the remaining telecom companies to get on board.

Radio and television broadcasters can help

On a conference call this week, Chairman Pai commended radio and television broadcasters for their Coronavirus response so far. Pai then challenged the broadcasters to work with cable and satellite operators to avoid blackouts and service disruptions over the next 60 days.

Other emergency measures

In additional actions by the FCC, several cellular companies were granted temporary access to additional spectrum to help meet the increased pandemic demand, and certain and recertification requirements for the Lifeline program were waived for 60 days to assure continuance of service for the program many rural citizens depend upon.

What Government Should and Shouldn't Do to Advance the Mobile Tech Revolution in Agriculture

The convergence of technology and agriculture has revolutionized modern farming. From streamlining communication, to allowing remote crop monitoring via wireless sensors, to guiding farm machinery, there are scores of examples of ways in which modern farmers and ranchers rely on mobile devices to make their operations not just more efficient, but more sustainable. As our attention shifts to confronting the array of threats stemming from the Coronavirus and we seek to mitigate risks, mobile connectivity has become vital for everything from connecting students and teachers, working remotely, checking in with loved ones, and longer term planning. Many of us will be focused on increased efficiencies and stretching resources in the face of serious economic hardship in the days, weeks and months ahead.

Leveraging technology will be a critical component of how we make the necessary changes to how we live, learn, and work, going forward. The good news is that for many of us in and around the agriculture industry and those of us who reside in rural America, adoption of mobile technology is nothing new

A View From The Hill - March Wrap-Up

By Burton Eller National Grange Legislative Director

Overview

These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the services of their country, but he that stands by it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman." These words by Thomas Paine in December 1776 spoke to a deepening crisis in America, the Revolutionary War.

Another crisis with a dramatically different and unseen enemy now grips the soul of our nation. But as in 1776, the patriot spirit in America is alive and well. COVID-19 has become a common enemy that is bringing us together as we tackle serious new medical, economic and societal challenges.

As the infection rate from the virus rises exponentially and the death rate climbs, the medical community is trying everything in its arsenal to mitigate this disease and some interventions seem to be working. The President, governors and mayors have taken drastic but necessary lock-down steps to limit crowds and movement to slow disease transmission.

Stocks tumbled and unemployment skyrocketed as a result. Congress and the President responded with financial aid packages to mitigate some of the severity of the tanking economy. The President formally triggered the Defense Production Act which gives the federal government authority to require, if necessary, industries to release supplies and step up production of respirators, masks, gowns and gloves for medical personnel.

Family becomes family and neighbors become neighbors in these times. Grangers nationwide have opened their hearts, their hands, their sense of community; their halls and their wallets to stand in the gap.

Agriculture and Food

One Million Meals to Rural Students/Funds for Feeding Programs

USDA is collaborating with Baylor University Collaborative on Hunger and Poverty, McLean Global and PepsiCo to deliver food boxes to rural children affected by school closures who may not know where their next meal is coming from. Each box contains five days' worth of shelf stable food. The initiative brings industry innovations and best practices together with USDA to combat rural hunger. Additional vendors are being encouraged to participate. The partnership is expected to quickly increase from 200,000 meals per week to 1,000,000. In addition, Congress passed, and the President signed, a relief package that expands domestic feeding programs, emergency food assistance programs and suspends SNAP work requirements during the emergency.

Restocking Grocery Shelves

The nation's food supply chain is responding to restock empty store shelves caused by panic buying and restaurant closures. There is plenty of food available, but the challenge is to keep plants staffed and running with large numbers of workers (while simultaneously preventing COVID-19 infections) to ensure a steady supply moving forward. The Administration has suspended hours-of-service rules to enable critical industries truckers to shorten delivery times.

Targeting Farmer Stress

The National Grange joined other agriculture and rural groups to request congress fully fund the Farm and Ranch Stress Assistance Network in the FY 2020 appropriations package. Mental health challenges faced by farmers, ranchers, farmworkers and rural residents are 48% higher than a year ago and 68% of rural residents live in areas with mental health professional shortages. Cost, embarrassment and stigma are the main barriers to seeking help.

Economy

Stocks Nose Dive

A resilient U.S. economy has been derailed by the COVID-19 pandemic. The stock market crash wiped out three years of gains. As events, attractions, festivals, parades, meetings, conventions and other gatherings are canceled and schools, universities and businesses close, workers, suppliers, small businesses and the economy at large lose crucial consumer spending.

Help is on the Way

A $2.2 trillion economic rescue package, the largest in U.S. history, is on the way to Americans. However, it will take some time for the benefits to trickle down to intended recipients. There's funding for hospitals, medical personnel and scarce medical supplies; financial aid for individuals and families, small business, industries, child care, and seniors assistance; emergency education; emergency transit needs; buffer capital for Treasury Department loans; deferments on federal student loan payments until September 30; emergency feeding programs and local food systems; $14 billion to replenish USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation fund, and $9.5 billion for livestock, dairy and specialty crops (vegetables, fruits, nuts) which have not traditionally been included in USDA aid.

Tax Breaks for Small Business

The National Grange joined independent and small business interests on a letter to President Trump, House Speaker Pelosi and Senate Majority Leader McConnell urging them to take immediate action to minimize the number of businesses closed and workers unemployed. The group suggested Washington's response include, but not be limited to:

Readily accessible, unsecured credit for employers of all sizes to pay workers, rent and other operating costs during this crisis Suspend filing of business returns and the payment of all business taxes for the duration of the pandemic Amend the Tax Code to restore the ability for businesses to carry back net operating losses against previous year tax payments, suspend the limit on interest expense deductions for 2020, Allow businesses to fully deduct any losses incurred this year.

Keep the Mail Running

The National Grange and a group of business organizations petitioned the leadership of the Senate and House Homeland Security and Government Affairs Committees to include funding in the Coronavirus relief package as necessary to keep the USPS fully functional during this crisis and beyond.

Health Care

Rural is not a Virus Barrier

The Centers for Disease Control warns farmers, ranchers and rural residents that remoteness is not necessarily a barrier against COVID-19, citing the flu epidemic of 1916 that spread to the far reaches of Alaska. Rural residents are urged to follow the same precautions and sanitary measures as more densely populated areas.

National Emergency Boosts Rural Hospitals

Designation of a national emergency by President Trump gives over 1,350 rural Critical Access Hospitals better funding, higher Medicare reimbursement rates, expanded bed space and the ability to keep patients longer to combat the coronavirus. The emergency declaration waives existing rules that had restricted rural hospitals and opens up access to $50 billion in funds to provide health care professionals more flexibility to fight COVID-19. The 126 rural hospitals that have closed since 2010 were negatively impacted by the whittling away of Medicare reimbursement and choices of states not to expand Medicaid.

Biopharmaceutical Industry Responds

These companies are coming together to share new technology, research and treatments in the battle against COVID-19 by:

- Screening global libraries of medicines to identify potential treatments
- Initiating clinical trials to test new and existing therapies
- Sharing results in real time with governments and other companies to advance the development of additional therapies
- Dedicating top scientists and investments in new technologies to speed the development of effective vaccines
- Donating supplies and medicines
- Coordinating with governments and diagnostic partners to increase testing capacity
- Keeping plants open to maintain a steady supply of medicines for patients
- Coordinating with governments and insurers to ensure that, when new treatments and vaccines are approved, they will be available and affordable for patients

Fix COVID-19 Access Barriers

The National Grange partnered with the patient advocacy community to urge governors, Medicaid directors, insurance commissioners and state boards of pharmacy to protect rare disease patients and high-risk populations during the COVID-19 crisis by:

- Require insurers to allow a one-time 90-day refill of covered prescriptions
- Require insurers to cover off-formulary prescription drugs if a formulary drug is not available
- Ensure prior authorization and reauthorization requirements do not restrict care and treatment
- Allow home infusion and injection services and appropriate reimbursement
- Extend appeal and fair hearing deadlines for patients seeking access to care and treatment
- Use flexibilities under section 1135(b)(1)(C) of the Social Security Act

Access to Vaccines

The National Grange and the patient advocacy community are urging the House leadership to quickly pass H.R. 5076, the Protecting Seniors Through Immunization Act. The legislation will make structural fixes to the inequities of Medicare Part D, including out-of-pocket payments and access to vaccines, that will provide substantial health and financial benefits to those over the age of 65.

Immigration, Labor and AG

Workforce Essential Industries

Medical, food and supply chain businesses are essential industries in a national emergency. This means that drug companies, medical manufacturers, farmers and ranchers, suppliers, truckers, food processors, distributors, and outlets are exempt from emergency restrictions so that medical supplies and food are available to citizens.

Workforce is a Challenge

Temporary guest workers have become critical to agriculture and food production and processing. When the national emergency was first declared, it appeared borders would be closed to a vital labor force as well. Following a frenzied couple weeks, the ag worker picture is a bit brighter. After first announcing all visas processing would be suspended, Mexico reconsidered when ag workforce groups, USDA and the State Department intervened. Mexico will now continue to process H-2A visas, the State Department will prioritize H-2A visa applications, and some returning H-2A workers may qualify for interview waivers. Still, agriculture fears the available H-2A workforce will be lower this year.

Telecommunications

FCC Appoints National Grange President Huber

The Federal Communications Commission in consultation with Agriculture Secretary Perdue has established the Precision Agriculture Connectivity Task Force to learn from on-theground experiences of those using technology in modern farming. Four working groups have been appointed and National Grange president Betsy Huber will serve on the Accelerating Broadband Deployment on Unserved Agricultural Lands working group. Another Broadband Innovation Approved The National Grange commended the Federal Communications Commission for actions in March to clear regulatory barriers for greater use of unlicensed TV white spaces to deliver broadband service to rural America. Availability to TV white space technology for broadband has been a priority for the National Grange.

the world turned. Being as our Grange is located in what is called a Tri-County area, we made the difficult decision to postpone our upcoming events for March and through the middle of April. This decision was not made lightly and was made prior to the mandatory closing of our schools. Since our decision, our Master has reached out to our local school Superintendent and offered to act as drive-thru pick up for meals for our students. The way our Grange is set up is ideal for this. We are waiting to see if this will be needed in the coming weeks. We felt it was important to our community to follow the protocol of social distancing to protect our vulnerable. In the meantime, we are working inside our Grange with upgrades to our kitchen and still providing our community with rentals of our building. Having to reschedule our postponed events has us busy planning them again, but we are so very much looking forward to warmer weather and things getting back to normal. It will be like back to school all over again. So stay tuned, follow us on facebook, and here's to a super packed activities spring when the weather warms up.

Grange met at Skagit Valley Grange on March 4. Committee Reports were heard. Health and Safety Chair, Susan Custance, discussed some important items we all should have on hand in case of emergency, such as water, cash, extra medications, and non-perishable food. She also gave a demonstration on the importance of hand washing, especially during this time of uncertainty. Each member received a bottle of handsoap. Fish, Game and Ecology Chair, Dennis Hall, discussed the proposed breeching of the Snake River dams. The Grange opposes this. Family Living Chair, Jean Swift, requested donations of fabric and Polyfil for a Comfort Toy "Sewing Bee" planned for later in April or May. Mary Hall gave a report on the history of Pomona Park. It was originally a county park with no amenities. Skagit County Grange members met with the County Parks Director in 1988 and worked out an agreement. All of the Granges in Skagit County were involved in the project. A shelter was built, tables constructed, trails cleared, and various trees and plants identified with small signs. The park was renamed and dedicated, "Pomona Park", in 1989, with State Master, Ray Hill in attendance. The park was maintained by the Granges for many years, although recently, the county has taken over the maintenance. The park is still used a great deal, with hundreds of students doing studies there every spring. Note: Unfortunately, We will not be holding our next meeting on April 1st, and the Family Living and Lecturer's Contests which were scheduled for that date also will be postponed. It is hoped that all these activities will be held on May 6th, or possibly June 3.

THURSTON COUNTY POMONA

There were a lot of scrumptious entries in the contests and the entries were sold to the winning bidders at a rousing live auction held during the Lecturer's program time. The Lecturer's and Family Living contests (except baking and candy) are scheduled to be held on April 18 at Black Lake Grange. Humptulips Grange Operates Food Bank Humptulips Grange continues to operate the Humptulips Food Bank during the Coronavirus pandemic. Fourteen Grange members worked at the March 18 food distribution day. We had a 50% increase in food bank clients, serving 85 families, which represented 282 individuals. Following the recommendations of Coastal Harvest and Northwest Harvest, food bank clients were instructed to stay in their vehicles until their food was carted out of the Grange hall. Additional safety measures were taken to assist in protecting the Grange members who worked the event. The next food distribution day is scheduled for April 22.

Grange members Ronda Emery-Morris and Jerry Gwin work in the canned foods section of the food bank, preparing items for distribution to the families.

Food bank workers and Grange members Marilyn Chamberlain, Tracey Brownrigg, Sue Drolz, and Carol Brownrigg work on packing the frozen foods for distribution.

Goldendale Grange Sponsors Police K9

Goldendale Grange officers Luann Kayser Whitmire and Fran Songer, presented KCSD officer Galvin Marble a check to assist with K9 Deputy "Profi's" ongoing care and training. Officer Marble and K9 Deputy Profi have spent hundreds of hours in training over the last several months. He is a community sponsored police dog, meaning his future training and care depends on local support. Profi, will be assisting Sheriff's Department Narcotics enforcement division. State Highway 97, which traverses the heart of Klickitat County is the second most traveled North-South drug corridor on the West Coast, right behind Interstate 5.

Calispel Grange Receives Framed Quilts

Calispel Grange #500 was recently treated to this quilting and framing artwork by new member, Sue Santilli, and honorary member Dory Schwab. Dory's family originally donated the land where our Grange now stands. At that time Grange neighbors and friends worked together to construct the building. This generosity still exists. When current members were asked to help frame Dory's quilt squares depicting signs for the Underground Railroad, new member, Sue Santilli, came forward and volunteered to make the frames in her workshop. This included milling a tree from her property herself. She then used her tools, assembled and constructed the frames.

Dory Schwab did all the research, and constructed the quilt squares. When asked if she would share them, she was excited to do so. She also has a short presentation to describe the dangerous travel route used to free people from bondage.

If you are in our area, we are happy to show you our treasure. Call ahead, 509-447-2782.
