COMMUNITY

In every corner of Washington, the Grange is where rural life comes alive. More than 10,000 members in 216 local chapters carry forward a tradition of community, service, and friendship. These halls are where neighbors become family—sharing meals, celebrating harvests, and rolling up their sleeves to help when it's needed most. From potluck dinners to annual fairs, from raising funds for local causes to lending a hand in times of crisis, the Grange is a place to belong, a place to lead, and a place to make a difference.

ADVOCACY

The Grange is more than a social and service organization—it's Washington's oldest and most trusted voice for agriculture. When you join, you gain the chance to meet face-to-face with legislators and speak up for the needs of rural communities and farmers across the state. At local Grange meetings, members tackle real issues like expanding rural broadband, addressing climate change, and improving rural healthcare. Because the Grange is truly grassroots, your ideas can grow from a conversation in your local hall to a policy adopted at the state level, and even carried to the National Grange—where they are championed before Congress and federal agencies. As a member, your voice matters, and together we can shape the future of rural Washington.

BEGIN YOUR JOURNEY WITH THE GRANGE

YOUTH AND JUNIOR GROUPS

The Grange is truly for the whole family. With Junior Grange and Grange Youth programs, children as young as four can get involved, learning leadership skills, the value of service, and the joy of working together—all while having fun. Whether organizing a bake sale, hosting a holiday celebration, or lending a helping hand in times of crisis, Grange members are always there for their communities. At the Grange, everyone has a place, and everyone can make a difference.
